

Professional History

Volunteer for Bolton Sunday Street Kitchens _____ 2019

Bolton Sunday Street Kitchen is a charity dedicated to providing food for the homeless, relying on the hard work and donations of ordinary people. Every other month, my mother and I would batch cook over 100 separate meals in our home kitchen, package them and deliver them to the charity who would then distribute them. This was often a very long and difficult undertaking while also being incredibly fulfilling.

Bartender at The Dragonfly Pub _____ 2020-2021

My first job, working as a bartender late into the night, provided me with a number of core skills I have kept and built upon ever since. These include resilience, focus, interpersonal skills amongst others.

Line Cook at Chopstix Chinese restaurant _____ 2021-2023

Chopstix was a fast paced kitchen environment located in The Trafford Centre. This meant I had to cook dishes very efficiently to keep up with the extremely large number of customers. I managed this very well while often providing support to the front of house staff and other departments when it was necessary. I maintained pristine hygiene levels throughout the day which included opening and closing the restaurant.

Poll clerk _____ 2022-2024

I have served as a poll clerk for the last 3 local elections and will be doing so again in the upcoming 2024 general election. Working as a poll clerk, there is more pressure than most similar jobs as the responsibility taken, ensuring the proper execution of the public's democratic rights, is an immeasurably important task. I managed this pressure and performed my duties to the highest standard while maintaining focus throughout the long 15 hour shifts.

Life modelling at LifiedrawingNQ+ _____ 2024

In January 2024 I started Life modelling at a class I had been attending in Manchester. I have performed poses up to 45 minutes long in sessions with attendance of over 30 people. The art of life modelling not only calls for physical endurance but also the mental resilience required to remain static for extended periods of time. The honest exposure undergone in these performances also greatly developed my confidence and demonstrated the extent to which I can overcome even the most daunting tasks.

Education

BA Graphic Design & Communications at University of Salford _____ 2021-2024

I have applied myself throughout my university experience and am expecting to graduate this year with a first class honours. Throughout my course I have developed my skills in a wide array of practices, particularly in motion design, editorial design and branding. One particular piece of work of mine has been nominated for the 2024 D&AD Newblood awards. This and the rest of my portfolio is available to view on my website, IceForDinner.com
